

Zambia Orphans Aid UK's Cookies Policy

Cookies are small text files that websites often store on the computer hard drives of visitors to their sites. They are widely used in order to make websites work, or work better, as well as to provide information to the owners of the site. A cookie often contains a unique number, which can be used to recognise your computer when a user of your computer returns to a website that it visited previously.

The list below describes the cookies we use on this site and what we use them for.

First Party Cookies

These are cookies that are set by this website directly.

WordPress: Our website runs the popular WordPress CMS and cookies are used to store basic data on your interactions with WordPress, and whether you have logged into WordPress. We use a session cookie to remember your log-in for you if you are a registered user and we deem these as being strictly necessary to the working of the website. If these are disabled then some functionality on the site will be broken.

Third Party Cookies

These are cookies set on your machine by external websites whose services are used on this site. Cookies of this type include the 'social buttons' for Facebook, Twitter and YouTube. In order to implement these buttons, and connect them to the relevant social networks and external sites, there are scripts from domains outside of our website. You should be aware that these sites are likely to be collecting information about what you are doing all around the internet, including on this website.

If you use a 'social button' the social network that created the button may deliver cookies to your computer or mobile phone that track your actions on this and other sites. Even if you don't click on a social button, if you are logged into these social networks' accounts they may be tracking your visits.

We have no control over the use of cookies by these companies. To understand and react to their use of cookies you should check the respective policies of each of their sites to see exactly how they use your information and to find out how to opt out or delete such information.

How to control or delete cookies

By using our website, our social media pages (such as Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, Google+ and Instagram), subscribing to our services and/or donating to us, you agree that, unless you have set your computer's browser to reject them, we can place the types of cookies set out below on your device and use that data in accordance with this policy.

The "Help" menu in the toolbar of most web browsers will tell you how to change your browser's cookie settings, including how to have the browser notify you when you receive a new cookie, and how to disable cookies altogether. Below is some helpful guidance about how to make these changes.
